Vesper Propers, October 20, 2019
Nineteenth Sunday after Pentecost

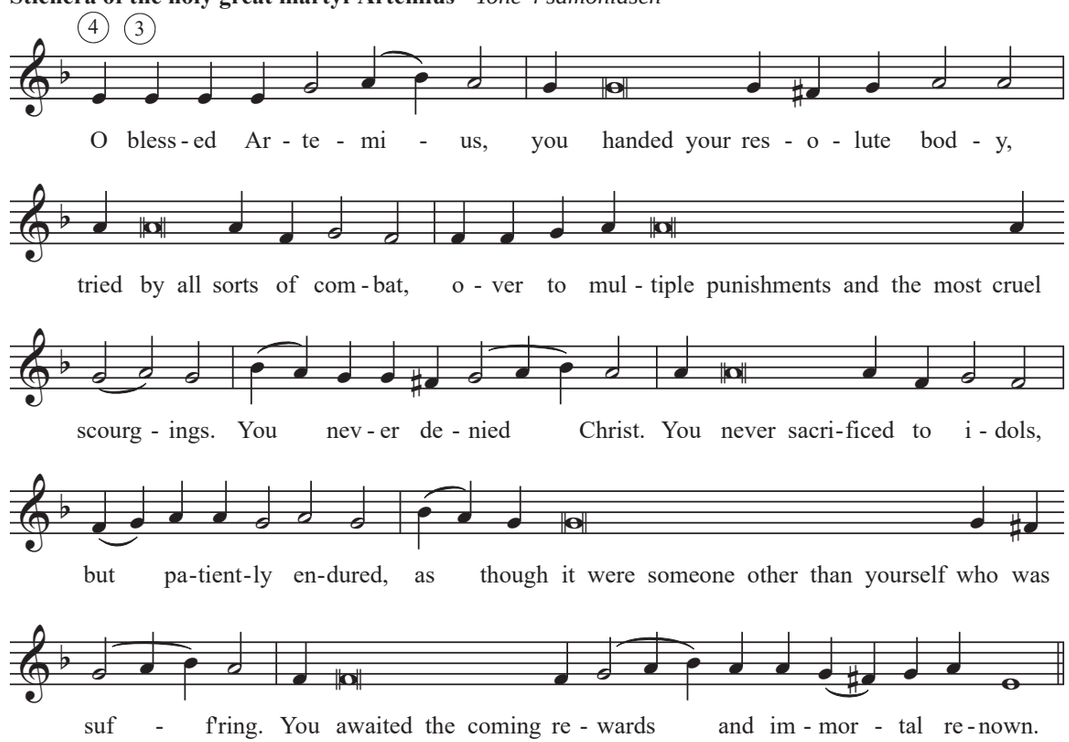

The holy great martyr Artemius. Egyptian by birth, he was the commander-in- chief of the army of emperor St. Constantine the Great. When the cross of the Lord appeared in the sky to the emperor, Artemius also saw it and came to faith. He was eventually appointed governor in Egypt. During the reign of emperor Julian the Apostate, he was stripped of his rank and thrown into prison. The emperor had him cruelly killed. (392)
